SHAWNIGAN SCHOOL.

Result of Examination of Beach Branch of Shawnigan School.

The examination on the 26th ult. was the first ever held in the above named school house. There were present 20 pupils, and six lady visitors, namely: Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Rutledge, Mrs. Dougan, Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Gravell, Miss Ronton, most of whom, unfortunately, had either to stand or sit in an uncomfortable position—there being only six forms, and those scarcely adequate for the wants of the scholars. The examination of the several classes in each of the elementary branches was fitly conducted, and in spite of the many disadvantages, was creditable to the teacher and the taught. The discipline and attention throughout was very good; indeed, much better than might be expected where there is school for only half the prescribed number of days. At the close of the programme the teacher distributed the prizes to their several winners, who were: Isaac Dougan, proficiency; Maria Dougan, deportment; Charles Jones, regularity and punctuality. A few remarks were then addressed to the scholars and to the ladies, which latter unanimously testified to the pleasure they felt in the examination, and to the general improvement of their children under their painstaking teacher. Further it was hoped by all that the long felt want of an additional teacher would be at once supplied, and that the school would be better fitted as regards benches and maps. The names of prize winners at the other branch were accidentally omitted from the report on that school. They were: Henry Hollings, proficiency; Thomas Hollings, regularity and punctuality; Eliza Louisa Verdier, deportment.

THE NEW U. S. POSTAL LAWS.

The Service Between Victoria and San Francisco Likely to be Affected.

The new regulations contained in the United States Post-office appropriation bill went into operation on the 1st inst. A Washington special says that in the office of the second assistant postmaster general, the appropriation for star route service has been increased $300,000, for railroad service $410,000, and for railway and postal clerks $382,300, thus allowing for a wholesome expansion of the transportation service. A clause in the new bill provides that the postmaster general may extend the domestic steamship service to foreign ports within 200 miles of the nearest domestic port. The steamship service between New York and Havana and between San Francisco and Victoria, B. C., may be affected by this provision. The companies are now entitled to receive sea postage on the letters, while under the new law the service may be let to the lowest bidder.

THE DOMINION ESTIMATES.

What British Columbia is to Receive this Year.

Submarine cable from Victoria to Washington Territory, $3500; under the head of charges of management we find the office of Auditor and Assistant Receiver-General, Victoria, set down for $8200; country savings banks, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and British Columbia, $16,000; British Columbia, brokerage on $14,986.82, sinking fund, $37,471; administration of justice, British Columbia, circuit allowances, $6000; penitentiaries, British Columbia, $96,620.70. For increased safe accommodation, Assistant Receiver-General's office, Victoria, $3000; Immigration building, Victoria, $800; Vancouver quarantine station, &c., $1100; New Westminster P. O. and Customs House, $258.58; salary, additional mail clerk, $480.

Unrealized Expectations.

The Portland Oregonian says that the era of "Booms" is past in that country and that from this time development will be slow but natural. Towns will spring up in new places, unquestionably; and towns already established will grow, but there will be no more of the mushroom progress which in a single twelve-month created half-a-dozen good cities in eastern Washington three years ago. "Booms" have their advantages and they have also their disadvantages. The country has gone through the experience, and we believe it is quite willing to give up uncertain and speculative conditions for the natural, reliable and calculable order of development.

Portland expected wonderful things through the Northern Pacific and other railroads. She looked to the China trade, to an extensive commerce and to half a score of other resources to at once swell her into great size and to make her rich. They have the railroads, but where is the wonderful prosperity which was expected to come with them? The China trade is nothing; while Portland's commerce is just in proportion to its production. The growth of the city has been considerable, but it cannot be credited to the railway ers. Reference is made to the Sound cities and that their experience will be the same as that of Portland. The Oregonian advises the people of Portland to strike out for business; to clear out the river bars for commerce; to aid in the setting up of the country; to create facilities for marketing the products of the country which lie east and west and north and south of the city. It then admits that the recent Iowa excursion was a trip gotten up for the benefit of Portland, the expenses paid for by her people, who regarded the affair as a matter of business. The speculative era is always one of uncertainty and worry and frequently leads to disappointments of the most cherished hopes.

The Federal Bank of Canada.

The trouble with which this bank was threatened last year has disappeared and the Federal is placed on as sound a financial basis as any of our banking institutions. The annual meeting recently held was largely attended by the shareholders and the directors report adopted unanimously. Mr. Yarker was appointed general manager and Mr. Nordheimer president. Federal stock, quoted a year ago at 32 cents on the dollar is now up to 100, and still advancing. Mr. Chas. Murray well known in banking circles in Western Ontario, has resigned the management of the London branch of the Federal. His place is to be filled by Mr. George Mair, now manager of the Guelph branch, a gentleman thoroughly versed in banking and general business and possessing the confidence of his superiors for under his management at Kingston and Guelph the losses of the Federal were nil. In London he will fully sustain his high reputation as a banker.

THE WIDE WORLD.

THIS DAY'S DESPATCHES

A Street Railway War.

Special to THE TIMES.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The western division of the Street Railway began moving their cars at Madison street this morning, under the protection of a large force of police. A barricade had been erected at one point on the street, but the police charged the crowd, using their clubs freely, and two men were seriously injured. The police took the agressive, and as it was known they had orders to shoot, the crowd hesitated about becoming too demonstrative. Arrests were made on every hand of persons jeering or in any way seeking to create disturbance, and the malefactors were carted off to the police station. Over one hundred arrests were made during the morning. The cars made one round trip successfully, and then started on the second trip. Madison street is densely thronged along the entire length, but a large force succeeded in obtaining comparative good order. At noon the cars are still running, carrying however policemen, and no serious outbreak has occurred.

General Grant Improving.

Special to THE TIMES.

MT. MCGREGOR, N. Y., July 3.—Gen. Grant required little attention of the doctor last night. During 12 hours, from 9 o'clock last night until 9 o'clock this morning, the patient slept fully 8 hours. He arose shortly before 9 o'clock this morning and announced his intention of being dressed at once. This was done, and before 10 o'clock the General was ready to go out upon the piazza, which he did. He strolled the length of the cottage on the verandah and then sat in his chair enjoying the bright fresh air. The clouds had gone and the sunshine was warm and grateful. The General's movements are firmer this morning and his strength seems greater than at the beginning of the week, and there are today those in the family who have firm belief the General may live until the autumn. Those near to patient feel today not a little encouraged.

The Conservatives on the Irish Question.

LONDON, July 1.—Lord Hill, member of parliament for Down, Ireland, and comptroller, in an election speech at Down to-day is the first member of parliament who has given any intimation regarding the policy of the government in relation to Irish affairs. His Lordship referred to the recent proposed bill for the renewal of the crimes act and said such measures were, in his opinion, needless, as the ordinary laws were sufficiently ample for its government. He said the present land act was a failure and that he would support the land purchase bill which the liberal government had proposed.

Churchill's Election Considered Very Doubtful.

LONDON, July 1.—Lady Churchill, who is the daughter of Leonard Jerome of New York, is personally engaging in the Woodstock canvas to secure the re-election to parliament of her husband Lord Randolph Churchill. The liberals are very active in their efforts to accomplish the defeat of Lord Randolph and to secure the election of Corrie Grant. The return of Lord Randolph for Woodstock at the present election is therefore considered very doubtful.

The New Orleans Exposition.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—It is the purpose of managers of the New Orleans Exposition which is to be opened in New Orleans on November 2nd to retain and enlarge the Mexican exhibit, and to secure an exhibit from South American and Central American states and the West India islands, and yesterday Secretary Bayard stated that this project would have the friendly support of the State Department.

Catholic Education.

Special to THE TIMES.

DUBLIN, July 3.—The Catholic bishops of Ireland, in session in Maynooth college, have protested against exclusion of Catholics from educational endowments unless they accept the government system of education, which has been condemned by the church. The bishops call upon members of parliament from Ireland to seek to have this grievance removed.

The Cholera in Spain.

Special to THE TIMES.

MADRID, July 3.—During the past twelve hours there were fifty new cases of cholera in Valencia, one hundred and five new cases in Aranguez, and five new cases and one death in Madrid. Throughout Spain yesterday there were 1254 new cases and 664 deaths.

Lord Randolph Churchill's Election.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, July 3.—Woodstock, where the contest for a seat in Parliament between supporters of Lord Randolph Churchill, the new Secretary for India, and Corrie Grant, Liberal candidate, is taking place to-day. There is quite a general indication that the re-election of Churchill is assured.

General Wolseley.

Special to THE TIMES.

CAIRO, July 3.—Gen. Wolseley will start for England on Tuesday next, on the completion of the railway from Wady Halfa to Alashesh. On the 15th instant the British troops will occupy the latter place.

The Crops in India.

Special to THE TIMES.

BOMBAY, July 3.—There has been but a scanty rainfall so far this season. The prospects for the crops are not as good as usual. In Bombay, Madras and Bengal but in the Central provinces satisfactory results are looked for.

Bismarck Better.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON July 3.—Prince Bismarck is being entirely restored to health. He left Kissengen and passed through Berlin on his way to Kroecielndorf, where will take place on Monday next marriage of his son William.

Restored to Position.

Special to THE TIMES.

ROME, July 3.—The Pope has received Father Murphy and restored him to the position from which he was suspended for supporting the Parnellites.

Minister to Belgium.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Judge Lambert Tree, of Illinois has been appointed minister to Belgium.

The Duke of Cumberland Shut Off.

BERLIN, July 1.—The diet of Brunswick has by unanimous vote adopted a resolution declaring that the succession of the Duke of Cumberland to the throne of Brunswick would be incompatible with the peace and security of the German empire.

Correspondence between the Duke of Cambridge and the regency council was had in the Brunswick diet to-day. The Duke of Cambridge claimed the right of regency, but desired to retain his position in England. The council declined to acquiesce, on the ground that only a German prince was eligible, stating that final decision rested with the empire. The Duke of Cambridge, in closing the correspondence, maintained his right to the throne.

BERLIN, July 1.—The bundesrath judicial committee has unanimously declared that the Duke of Cumberland's succession to the throne of Brunswick would be incompatible with the internal peace of the empire. It is stated that the committee's report will be placed before the bundesrath to-morrow.

The Disabled Gallia Heard From.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The steamship East Anglia, which arrived to-day from the Mediterranean reports that on June 27 lat. 42 deg., 54 min. long. 50 deg. 32 min. she spoke with and took letters from the steamer Gallia, hence for Liverpool, disabled, having broken her third section shaft on the 23d. The Gallia was in tow of the steamer River Avon, bound for Seville. All were quite well and happy on board and expected to have repairs completed by the 28th and proceed without further assistance. The weather was exceedingly fine.

Recent Elections.

LONDON, July 1.—Parliamentary election to-day in the borough of Launceston, Cornwall, to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation to the peerage of Sir Harding Gifford, now lord high chancellor, resulted in the return of Mr. Webster, tory candidate, by a large majority.

Lord John Manners, postmaster-general, and the Right Hon. Sir William Hardyke, chief secretary for Ireland, have been re-elected to parliament

A Surfeit of Counterfeits.

TORONTO, June 25.—This afternoon two large packages of counterfeit Dominion bank bills were found in a lane here. The ink on the notes was not yet dry, showing the bills must have been manufactured in this city. Hundreds of dollars of counterfeit money have been put in circulation in this city in the past few weeks, and the imitation was so good that the banks accepted some of the notes as genuine.

Order Out of Chaos.

LONDON, July 1.—Lord John Manners, postmaster-general, in addressing a Conservative meeting at Leicester last evening said, without pretending to state the policy of the government, he was able to say they would try to bring order out of the present chaos in Egypt, and would endeavor to terminate the tension on the Afghan frontier which endangers India.

Churchill Elected.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, 6 p. m., July 3.—The Woodstock election to-day resulted in Lord Randolph Churchill's return by a considerable majority. The contest was a severe one and the amount of money expended by both parties was large.

POLICE COURT.

(Before Edwin Johnson, Esq., S. M.)

Ah Poo, supplying an intoxicant to a Nitinat. Mr. Walls appeared for the defence. Officer Grant, who made the arrest, testified that prisoner was pointed out to him by the Indian woman as the one who had given her the gin, in the alley of Store street. Annie, who received the liquor, identified Ah Poo as the person who sold her the bottle, for which she paid him one dollar. The negotiations were carried on partly in Chinook and partly in English, and in the evening. Chu Fa Fang, bookkeeper for Qwong Lee, swore that the prisoner had come to his house about 4 o'clock and taken dinner with him, remaining all night, and was a hard-working and respectable man. The Magistrate, believing the testimony of the Indian woman in preference to that of the Chinaman, fined the prisoner $50 and $2.50 costs.

Robert Gibbs, feloniously assaulting Capt. Moore. Mr. Wootten appeared for the prosecution. The Magistrate said that as the assault was committed at New Westminster he had no jurisdiction, and remanded the case until Monday, to be tried by two provincial justices of the peace.

E. Robertson, charged with stealing $20 from H. T. McCauley, was remanded until to-morrow

COUNTY COURT.

(Before Judge Crease.)

July 2, 1885.

B. F. Dillon vs. McCartney & Verner. This case was settled by the return of the goods sued for, each side paying its own costs. Mr. S. Perry Mills for plaintiff; Mr. T. Davie for the defendants.

Lewis Lewis vs. Capt. Clements—Claim for goods sold, $23.75. Judgment for plaintiff. S. P. Mills for plaintiff.

Elkhola vs. Irneworthy—Judgment for defendant. Mr. Drake, Q. C., for defendant; Mr. T. Davie for plaintiff.

[illegible] vs. [illegible]—Claim $550 for sale of furniture. Judgment for plaintiff for amount claimed. Mr. T. Davie for plaintiff.

Dunn vs. Jones—Suit for recovery of $68. Partly heard and adjourned until Saturday. Mr. Fell for plaintiff and Mr. Theo. Davie for defendant.

The Baptist Picnic.

The Baptist Church Sunday School scholars, with their teachers and friends, held a picnic at Cordova Bay, yesterday. They drove out in busses, and between the pleasant drive and the agreeable time passed on the picnic ground, the scholars voted that they had spent a "jolly time." And the teachers and others said ditto.

In no other medicinal preparation have the results of the most intelligent study and scientific inquiry been so steadily and progressively utilized as in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases.

Address, THE TIMES P. & P. CO., Victoria, B. C.

J. C. McLAGAN, Manager.

SIR HARDINGE GIFFORD, the lord high chancellor in the new cabinet, takes the title of LORD HALSBURY.

NEGOTIATIONS between England and Spain for a treaty of commerce are about to be reopened on overtures from Madrid.

QUEEN VICTORIA has conferred the peerage upon ROWLAND WINN, the parliamentary secretary in the new ministry. His title is BARON STOSWALD of Nostell.

SIR RICHARD ASHETON CROSS, secretary for the home department, has ordered fifty detectives from Ireland, who have been for some time on duty in London, to return to Dublin.

TURKEY and Russia have amicably settled the differences growing out of the demand made upon the porte by the Russian ambassador for the removal of the governor of Salonica.

THE president has not yet admitted to the circle of his friends either John McLean, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, or Charles A. Dana, of the New York Sun.

SCORES of fellows are advertising in the Washington newspapers for government clerkships. They offer to give $100 and $50 to the man who will get them positions.

ROSCOE CONKLING said, before leaving for Europe, that he was not invited, in any way, to take part in the last presidential campaign in behalf of the Republican party, and he did not feel like dining with friends until he had received an invitation.

THE German bundecraft has rejected PRINCE BISMARK's proposals to tax barrels in which American petroleum is imported as articles of cooperswork. The proposed tax would largely increase the cost of petroleum.

THE Paris Republique Francaise and Voltaire admit the divisions in the Republican party. They advise, in view thereof, that no programme should be issued, and urge that all efforts be now confined to strengthening the republic itself.

ADMIRAL GALIBER, French minister of Marine and the colonies, threatens to resign because he differs from other members of the government on the subject of increasing the navy. A rumor is current that other changes in the ministry are likely soon to take place.

J. J. OWEN, late of the San Jose (Cal.) Mercury, is about to begin the publication in San Francisco of a weekly paper to be called the Golden Gate, "a journal of practical reform, devoted to the elevation of humanity in this life, and a search for evidence beyond."

SIR HENRY DRUMMOND WOLFF, who, it was announced, was about to start for Cairo as British envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary, will go to Egypt, it is now stated, upon a special mission. It is not intended that he shall displace SIR EVELYN BARING, the present diplomatic agent and consul general of Great Britain at Cairo.

IF it be permitted to the dead to know what is going on here below, one can imagine the scornful smile with which the late Lord BEACONSFIELD must have listened to the remarks of the marquis of Salisbury in the House of Commons recently. And doubtless he said to himself, "Has my mantle fallen on such a weak-kneed fellow as this?"

IN the new deal in England, SIR PETER LUMSDEN is likely to be a partaker of the spoils. The Liberal government which did not back him in the Badghois country, is, for the time, out of power, and the Tories are paying him profuse attention. It is asserted that SIR PETER will be presented with a golden sword, fully equal to the one the Czar sent GEN. KOMAROFF in token of his approval of that officer's strategy on the Murghab. A banquet has already been given him by the Royal Geographical society. Perhaps SIR PETER would not decline a peerage.

THE COLONIST AND THE WELLINGTON SCHOOL HOUSE.

The organ, in its issue of Tuesday morning, finds balm for the government in the description given of the Wellington school house by MR. G. STAIRBURN, principal, and makes the extraordinary statement "that the government are no more to blame for the condition of the school than the man in the moon. A perusal of MR. STAIRBURN's letter will show with whom the responsibility rests."

THE TIMES cannot agree with the first sentence of the quotation; the last it endorses most emphatically. Who is the people of Wellington to look to for the protection of the school house property if not to the government? If it were the first act of the hoodlums mentioned, and that of a recent date, the government might not be blameable; but according to MR. STAIRBURN's letter, "For a long time the destruction of the school property has been a favorite amusement with the hoodlums of Wellington. The school has been repeatedly disturbed by them while in session." By the writings of the principal of the school the government is condemned, for the authorities cannot plead ignorance of the fact that the Wellington school has been for a length of time past in a shameful condition. It is presumable that the gentleman in charge of the Wellington school informed the government from time to time of the depredations of the hoodlums mentioned. If the principal failed to do so then he has been remiss in his duty. Without knowing the actual facts THE TIMES would not accuse him of being negligent, but this we do know, that the government have had ample and repeated information, through the press, that the school house in question was unfit for use and dangerous to the health of the school children. When the Hon. Minister of Education was at Nanaimo some time ago, and "most graciously received a deputation of Nanaimo's leading citizens," no one would accuse that hon. gentleman of not having enquired into the state of the several school properties in that district for not only is it part of his duty to have done so, but the interest he always takes in educational matters would surely never be lost sight of in preparing the way for the coming race. As MR. STAIRBURN explains, the destruction of the school property has been going on for a length of time, the government were in duty bound to have seen that a stop should have been put to the destruction of the school house. If the government is not to blame in the matter the public are anxious to be informed who the negligent parties are. The Colonist will answer, perhaps, that the hoodlums are to blame. In the first instance they would seem to have been guilty, but in the second instance the government have been derelict of their duty in not having an example made of the depredators, so that from fear alone they would have ceased their wicked work. It may be that the onus of the state of the school house will be attempted to be shuffled on the shoulders of the trustees, the principal or the members for the district, even if either, or all, of these parties had neglected to acquaint the government with the facts—which we very much doubt—again we say that the proper authorities have been duly informed through other sources of the state of the school house at Wellington and no amount of hocus-pocus reasoning or apologies by the organ can possibly remove from the shoulders of the government the responsibility of keeping the school house in a respectable state of repair.

THE New York Nation, in an intensely pro-Irish editorial, thus sums up the coup by which MR. GLADSTONE was voted down on the budget bill: "All this is of course rather funny, coming from men who, when they won in the division, jumped on their seats and waved their hats and cheered themselves hoarse. They now declare, in short, that their designs toward MR. GLADSTONE were very much what the Scoth minister had in mind with regard to a certain well known sinner when he prayed: 'Lord, shak' him o'er the mouth o' hell, but dinna drop him in!' They wanted in short, to frighten and worry him, and discredit him, but not to turn him out." The writer then proceeds: "A SALISBURY Ministry, upheld by GLADSTONE in doing things on which GLADSTONE's own cabinet was divided, would be a political monster, which would be killed before the general election by mere laughter."

IT is again reported that DR. WALSH, president of Maynooth college, has been appointed to succeed the late CARDINAL MCCABE as archbishop of Dublin. When DR. CROKE returned to Ireland from Rome, a few weeks ago, he said that the pope had been made fully aware of the feelings and wishes of the Irish people in this matter, and he confidently believed that the impartial judgment of his holiness would lead him to a conclusion in harmony with the Irish people. This appointment has been awaited with intense anxiety by the whole Irish people, as they felt that the decision would indicate whether the power of the Roman Catholic church is to be thrown on the side of English traditional rule in Ireland or on the side of the Irish people. The late CARDINAL MCCABE was the ally of British coercion, and DR. WALSH is in full accord with the popular desire for local self-government and the substitution of at least an Irish-born Irish Secretary for the coercive regime of Dublin Castle. The rumored appointment of DR. MORAN to the see of Dublin was received a few weeks ago with disgust in Ireland, and the Pope would hardly care to alienate the affections of the majority of Irish Catholics by making an obnoxious choice. It is probable that the report of the appointment of DR. WALSH is true.

PARLIAMENTARY JOTTINGS.

THE TIMES Ottawa correspondent, writing from the capital on the 29th June says that when the Franchise debate was concluded discussion was rife as to how long it would take to get through with the necessary business and prorogue the House. A large number of the members, at any rate, thought that a great many government bills would be dropped and that little else would be taken up besides supply, the C. P. R. relief and a few other urgent matters; but if this present appearances seem to indicate that they were mistaken, as very few measures have been dropped from the order paper, and day after day is spent in discussing items of legislation which it was thought would be postponed. On Tuesday the government resolutions to grant further aid to the Canadian Pacific railway were moved by the acting Minister of Railways, HON. J. H. POPE. The speakers in support of the government were MESSRS. POPE and CHAPLEAU. The resolutions provide, as MR. POPE explained that the government shall release to the company the $35,000,000 of stock held as security for former advances, the company to issue preference bonds to the same amount of bonds. Twenty millions worth are to be taken by the government and the company to be credited with the proceeds on loan account, and the other $8,000,000 bonds are to be held as security, for a temporary cash accommodation of $5,000,000 which is to be given immediately as security to the government for the balance of the loan account not covered by the $20,000,000 of bonds deposited. A lien is to be taken on the company's 21,000,000 acres of unsold land. The advance to the company of another $5,000,000 in cash is explained to be necessary to enable the company to pay off their floating debt and to tide them over until they have realized something from this season's operations with the completed Lake Superior line. The government claim that this loan is only temporary and will be paid within a year. MR. POPE's speech consisted largely of a statistical resume of the progress, cost and present position of the company. When the road was completed, MR. POPE said, it would compare favorably with American transcontinental lines, as the following table shows:

TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILWAYS—COMPARATIVE STATEMENT.

Name of road.	Mileage.	Share capital.	Funded debt.	Cash equity.	Land equity.	Gross earnings.	Net earnings.	Working expenses.	Maximum grades.	Minimum curvature.
Canadian Pacific
Railway	2,627	$65,000,000	$35,000,000	$25,000,000	$25,000,000	$5,730,000	1,101,290	$3,350,000	116 feet to mile.	10 degrees
Northern Pacific Railway	2,857	100,000,000	50,000,000		43,000,000	12,303,000	4,994,570	7,351,000	128 feet to mile.	12 degrees
Union Pacific Railway	3,050	120,000,000	250,000,000	61,000,000	33,000,000	65,746,400	18,742,153	27,000,000	116 feet to mile.	11 degrees
Southern Pacific Railway	3,051	122,000,000	50,000,000		50,000,000	15,375,400	7,229,400	7,236,000	128 feet to mile.	14 degrees

The Hon. MR. BLAKE, in the course of his reply to the Ministerial speakers, reviewed the history of the Canadian Pacific railway from its inception, but as it was midnight, and the leader of the opposition intimated that he had several hours yet to speak, the debate was adjourned, and on Wednesday MR. BLAKE concluded his speech, which took nearly five hours and was a most exhaustive deliverance. MR. IVES, who followed, made a good point against MR. BLAKE, when he quoted from a speech of his delivered 14 years ago, on the admission of British Columbia into the Union, in which he declared that the bargain made with this province, which included the early completion of a transcontinental line, should be carried out at all costs. MR. CAMERON, (Huron), was the next speaker, and moved an amendment that the syndicate should appropriate part of the fourteen millions deposited with them as guarantee to subscribers, instead of coming to Parliament for further aid. The debate was continued yesterday (Friday) by MESSRS. CHARLTON, MCCARTHY, DAVIES, FOSTER, ROSS, (Lisgar), and DAWSON, when a division was taken on MR. CAMERON's amendment, which was lost on a vote of 51 yeas to 100 nays.

THE temporary loans made by the government in Canada up to May 31st, amounted to $4,400,000, and those made in England amounted to $11,419,067, or a total of $15,819,067 altogether.

BLOOD VENGEANCE.

LAW AND CUSTOM CONCERNING THE BLOOD-FEUDS OF PERSIA.

The "Square of the Gun" in Teheran—Some Peculiarities of the Law—The Results of the Time-Honored Practice.

[Foreign Letter.]

In the center of the town of Teheran—the seat of government of Nussir-Deen, the King of kings, the Asylum of the Universe—is a large square; it is called the Square of the Gun. The huge piece of ordnance that gives its name to this place is very like one of the cannon which stand behind the horse guards. Clustered round it are a group of weary-looking men. They are murderers; safe for the time being from the law (generally) even from the avenger of blood; the place is their sanctuary. Under the shadow or within touch of this gun the murderer, even the traitor, is safe. Let him once leave this refuge, if only for a few yards, and the criminal will fall into the hands of the law or the clutch of the avenger of blood. For in Persia the murderer has not so much to fear the laws of his country as the vengeance, legal or otherwise, of his victim's relatives. Blood has a price, and the price must be paid, or the criminal must be prepared to shed his own. The price is not arbitrary, it is fixed at so much for a freed man, another price for a woman, another for a slave.

Nominally, and according to the religious law, even the hairs of a man's beard have a price (in camels) if extracted by violence. And within the last twenty years we have known a case of a Mussulman who sent in a regular account in this form to a European:

To fifteen hairs from the head of Rejab.
Its equivalent being fifteen camels at 70 kerans:
— 1,050 kerans (42 pounds sterling). Please pay bearer. (Seal of high priest.)

This document was quite in legal form; but, as the aggrieved Rejab was unable to produce any hairs, a trifling present satisfied him. So much for a tooth; so much for an eye; so much for each drop of blood; finally, so much for a life. And if the guilty person can not pay this price, then his own life is at the mercy of the victim's relatives. Such is the law. But it is a point of honor with the relatives of a murdered man not to take money if possible, but to exact their right. Hence arise "blood feuds." These are principally observed in the south of Persia. There, where every man is armed to the teeth, blood feuds are common. "I must leave you here, sahib," exclaims your guide, quite as a matter of course; "I have a blood feud with the next village, and my life if not safe beyond this point." Sometimes these "blood feuds" remain unavenged for many years; the guilty man wisely keeping out of the reach of the avenger of blood by remaining in a village where the other dare not show his face on account of the emeels awaiting him also in that particular district.

Time sometimes, though rarely, heals these feuds. A man gets tired of being hunted of feeling that he may be shot or stabbed or poisoned at any moment, and he compromises, he gives the family of his victim a horse or money or so many bags of dates, or perhaps even the hand of his daughter in marriage. Or perhaps a youth of 20 will shoot down an aged man, the murderer of his grandfather, whom perhaps he has never seen; and, fleeing to the arms of his delighted mother, will exclaim: "I have avenged our blood!"—thus bringing a "blood-feud" on his own head. These are some of the results of the universal practice, in the south of Persia, of carrying arms. It must be remembered; too, that the murderer in these cases is not looked upon with horror; he is simply a man who has done his duty. North of Shiraz these blood feuds are uncommon; and an Ispahani would certainly prefer the price, or, failing that, a decent sum in cash, to judicial revenge. As a rule, in the present day, a murderer is executed, and never handed over to the tender mercies of his victim's friends, but legally the relatives can themselves take the guilty man's life.

Kabyle Savages.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

The Kabyles are an indigenous people living in the mountains in the south of Algeria, who retain many of their savage habits. The most disgusting sight I ever witnessed was the devouring of a snake by one of these savages. It was raw and probably living when the process commenced. The reptile was apparently of the garter kind and about two and a half feet in length. He began at the head and swallowed inch by inch, as the boa-constrictor devours an ox, wandering around meanwhile among his company, who were on the leves just ready to embark for Sontay, followed by a crowd of his comrades, apparently half strangled, but allowing no one to interfere till the tail was finished. Then he gave the signs of satisfaction that usually follow a good meal and received the congratulations of his friends.

The Laco Weed in Kansas.

[Dodge Cowboy.]

The laco weed, which has appeared with frightful rapidity on the Kansas range within the last eighteen months, to the dismay of stockmen, will doubtless disappear within the next eighteen months. Two years ago this singular plant had free swing in the Texas Panhandle and New Mexico; but now it has nearly disappeared in those sections. The devilish plant has not come to stay. It is a tramp, and, like other nuisances of a similar ilk, it makes itself mighty disagreeable to the localities where it effects a temporary lodgment. This plant does not have the appearance of guile, for chemists have failed to detect any poisonous qualities therein, but it is an established fact that horses and cattle are made mad by eating it, and that it produces abortion in cows.

Defrauding by Mutilated Notes.

[Washington Post.]

The United States treasurer is still in receipt of piecel legal tender [illegible] that the same parties are mutilating notes with the intent to defraud the public.] The method pursued is to tear from a note so much only as will not exceed two-fifths of the note, three-fifths being redeemable under the rule at full value; then to join the piece detached with other pieces obtained in the same manner, and thus obtain one full note composed of the several pieces. The public are again cautioned against taking any pieced note unless it is evident from the number of the two ends and other appearances that the two pieces are of the same note.

Ghosts in Costa Rica.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

Although Costa Rica is burdened with a public debt of about 10 per capita of her population, the government supports a university and public schools in every city and village. The schools are free, except a enrolling fee of $2 for each pupil annually, and teachers are paid from $50 to $60 per month.

Caught a Severe Cold in Jerusalem.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

On a west-bound Michigan Central train the other day were a delicate appearing young woman and an intelligent looking young man, evidently husband and wife. Immediately behind the couple sat the man—to be found on every train—who would die if not permitted to hear the sound of his own voice at all times and in all places. The young lady had a troublesome cough, a fact which seemed to bother the talking machine behind her greatly. At last he leaned forward and addressed her escort:

"That gal's got a bad cough."

"Yes."

"Ever try catnip tea?"

"She hasn't drank anything else for more than 200 years. She caught a severe cold in Jerusalem in 1503. I had fifty barrels of catnip tea put into the baggage car for her use between here and Chicago. (Pause.)

"Lungs?"

"No, bunions. That's purely a bunion cough, you will notice, if you watch her closely."

"Ain't the draught a leetle strong from that window?" after a longer pause.

"No, she has to have it. It takes 15,000 pounds of air to make her a respectable breath. We have a patent breath incubator which she uses at home. It covers 17,000 acres of valuable land."

"Did you say she was your wife?"

"No. I didn't say anything of the sort. She's one of these new fashioned infernal machines that I'm taking over to England to blow up the queen. The only trouble is that I am subject to fits, and when I get one of them I break things up terribly."

"What brings them on to you?"

"Talking. Why, it was only yesterday that I killed three men, a woman and a pair of twins before I could be got under control. I feel very queer about the head now, I—"

"I reckon I'll go out into the smokin' car," said the bore, sidling out of the seat. "I don't feel very well myself."

"Don't hurry away," shouted the young man, while a general titter ran through the car.

Fetichism in China.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

A recent writer on the subject of religion in the Celestial empire states that near Peking, a few miles from the walls, on the east, is an enormous tree which fell more than two centuries ago and which has been there ever since. It is called the divine tree and a temple has been erected for its worship. The people believe that a spirit lives in or near the tree and should be worshiped from motives of prudence. The immense size of the tree is the result of the spirit's energy. It is believed that it could not have grown so large without a present divinity.

At Hantan, five or six days' [illegible] from Peking, there are some iron bars in a well. In times of drought they are taken all the way to Peking to be prayed to for rain. They are placed in one temple after another and prayers are offered to them till the showers fall. The bars are then reverently escorted back to Hantan and placed in the well till they are again needed. In such a case the Chinese believe that there is a powerful spirit or genius in the well and in the bars and that this spirit accompanies the bars to Peking and back again.

This is Chinese contemporary fetichism, but in the ancient books there is no trace of fetichism. The objects of worship were either individual spirits or parts of nature. The ruling powers of the universe, from the highest to the lowest, were divided into four great classes—God, the subordinate heavenly powers, the higher earthly powers, and the numberless spirits that people earth and air. The subordinate heavenly powers were the seasons, the sun, moon, stars, cold and heat, floods and drought. The earthly powers were the gods of the mountains and rivers, and the last named are the spirits still remaining. Nothing is said of human spirits, though these may be worshiped then, as now, in the ancestral temples. But the worship, in this instance, consisted only of kneeling, praying and offerings.

Origin of a Common Phrase.

[Chicago Herald.]

A correspondent ask: "Can you tell me what was the origin of the phrase 'Woke up the wrong passenger'?"

That is a very easy one. In 1839, when visitors to Chicago came by stage coach, a famous old pioneer named John Otter had made the journey from Buffalo to the west. He was a hard drinker, but in those days whisky didn't hurt a man any. Before leaving Buffalo John made a bargin with the driver that he was to be waked up every hour when asleep in order to take his medicine with accustomed regularity. The scheme worked well until they came within a day's drive of Chicago. There were only two other passengers in the coach and they had evidently discovered what was going on. As the journey was near its end all hands agreed to ride all night in order to reach Chicago in the morning. With many injunctions to the driver not to forget his bargain old John went to sleep.

When he had begun to snore one of the other passengers crowded him out of his place and sat down in his corner, exchanged his own hat for John's coon skin, and pretended to be asleep. All night long the deception was kept up, the driver stopping every hour, nudging the man that he supposed was Oldershaw and giving him his bitters. When Chicago was reached John found himself in his own corner, but he knew that he had had no whisky, and he became so furious that they had to put him under guard. He sued the stage company for damages, and after ten years of litigation got a judgment for $15,000. That is what came of waking up the wrong passenger.

The Average Cost of Living.

[Christian Union.]

Edward Atkinson, the noted statistician and political economist, has gathered data relating to the cost of living in average comfort in the United States. The experiment was carried on in two towns, one in Massachusetts and the other in Maryland, and continued six months. All classes of the population were included. The Massachusetts town showed a somewhat higher average cost than the Maryland town. Averaging the two, Mr. Atkinson takes the result as a basis for an estimate measurably applicable to the whole population.

Only the cost of food was considered, the items being poultry, fish, meat, dairy, eggs, flour, meal, vegetables, sugar, syrup, tea, coffee, fruit, salt, spice, ice, etc. He makes out that the cost per individual is 5.8 cents per day, amounting to $23.81 per year. At this rate a family of five persons can live on $1,403. Upon a estimate of the cost per individual a little calculation shows that the people of this country spend annually for food about $4,400,000,000.

The Way It Often Happens.

[Lewiston Gazette.]

Stranger, to waiter at the hotel: "Here, I have made a slit in one of my boots. Send it to the shoemaker and ask him to stitch it up." An hour after. Errand boy to porter: "Here's a stitched boot for No. 6; cost a penny." Porter, to boots: "Here's a stitched boot for No. 6; I had to pay threepence; give me the money." Boots, to waiter: "Here's a boot for No. 6; I've paid sixpence for mending it; pay up." Waiter, to stranger: "Here's the mended boot; cost a shilling; I paid it myself." Some time later. Stranger, to shoemaker: "I say, what did you charge for mending that boot?" Shoemaker: "Nothing."

CITY AND PROVINCE

—Hawkers and pedlers pay a license of $40 in Nanaimo.

—The Rithet's last trip to Nanaimo was made yesterday. Her future movements are uncertain.

—Joseph Prhys Planta has been appointed Stipendiary Magistrate for Vancouver Island.

—Spruce poles are to be shipped from British Columbia over the C. P. R. for the southern prairie telegraph lines.

—A sitting of the County Court of Cariboo is being held at Quesnellemouth today. Another sitting will be held at Richfield next Monday.

—The Nanaimo Custom House returns for June were: Import duty, $4388; sick mariners dues, $135.16; petroleum inspection, $9; total, $4,532.16.

—Mr. A. Onderdonk, the C. P. R. contractor of British Columbia, arrived in Montreal on the 23d ult., and registered at the Windsor.

—The position in the Savings bank vacated by Mr. R. E. Green has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Herbert Jones.

—Mr. George Gillespie, accountant in the Bank of British Columbia, has been appointed assistant manager in the place of Mr. C. S. Jones who has resigned and will shortly leave for Scotland.

—A morning journal reports that about 500 Chinamen have left in some mysterious way for Port Townsend. It is to be hoped that it's true, but it looks doubtful.

—"Not dead but gone to Winnipeg" is the suggestive placard on a window at the Queen Chop House. Under all the circumstances that's rather rough on Winnipeg.

—The Ancon will leave Portland for Alaska and way ports to-morrow at midnight, touching at Victoria. There will be a large number of excursionists on board.

Mr. Edward D. Sparrow, late editor and proprietor of the Reveille, Cloverdale, Sonoma, Cal., is on a visit to friends in this city and is a guest with the family of Mr. G. W. Williams.

—Mr. Phillip Nile, while working in the No. 1 shaft at Nanaimo, on Saturday was injured by a fall of rock from the roof. Dr. Cluness, Colliery surgeon, attended to the injured man.

—The young man Leclaire accused of assaulting the two Chinamen on the Burnside road, bailed out by Messrs. James Fell and Captain R. E. Green, and who is now in Portland, will present himself for trial when that time arrives.

—Letters are detained for postage addressed to Cal. Cracker Co., San Francisco; Ross Hewlitt, (2) San Francisco; Miss E. Allen, Terre Haute, Indiana; Mrs. A. H. Koch, Seattle; Geo. H. Allen, Metea, Indiana.

—One hundred and thirty-five years ago to-day, Henry Grattan, the Irish parliamentary orator, was born. He was an unflinching advocate of the just rights and independence of his country. Irishmen everywhere still venerate his memory.

—Examination of the steamer Umatilla shows that her most serious injury is the hole in her bow. Some smaller damages were found in her tanks, and surveyors estimate that a sum not exceeding $30,000 will put her in good order again.

—Commencing this week steamers will leave San Francisco and Portland every four days, instead of five as at present. Increased service is necessitated by heavy offerings of south bound freight, which under the old schedule the steamers could not accomodate.

—Arickson, a native of Sweden, aged 33 years, who was fatally injured at Urquhart's saw-mill, Comox, died at the Nanaimo hospital on Monday. His injuries were internal and his sufferings were terrible, till death brought a happy release.

—Traffic receipts of the Canadian Pacific railway for the week ending the 21st ult., were $166,000, against $147,000 for the previous week, an increase of $19,000. For the corresponding week last year the receipts were $123,000, showing an increase for this year of $43,000.

—At the North Gabriola trustee election Mr. Theodore LeBoeuff was elected school trustee vice Mr. J. W. Pemberthy. At the school examination the rolls of honor were won by John White, Alice Pemberthy and Janet Hoggan. The school is in charge of Miss Sweet and has made excellent progress during the last term.

—Mr. Shakespeare voted for Mr. Charlton's amendment to the act respecting offences against the person, by making it a penal offence to seduce a woman under twenty-one years of age, while Messrs. Baker, Gordon and Homer voted against the amendment; the vote being 58 for and 72 against.

—Canneymen along the Columbia are still complaining of small takes of salmon. The pack will probably be helped out by the big run which usually takes place in this month. The fish wheels at the Cascades are doing a poor business, as the water is low and falling. There is scarcely a possibility of any further rise this season.

—Mr. John McCafferty, of the Helena daily Herald, left to-day for Port Townsend, where he will ship for Alaska in the Ancon. Mr. McCafferty has written several letters to the eastern press; the Herald of the 25th ultimo, contains a lengthy letter from his pen, dated at this city, descriptive of his travels to Victoria. In a future issue he promises a bird's eye sketch of this section. The letters are very racy and exceedingly readable.

—In the coal quotations for this week we find Pacific Coast at $6 for Coos Bay; $5 for Mount Diablo; $9 for Nanaimo; Wellington, $8.50; Seattle, $6.50; cannel, $9.50; slack, $3.25; patent coke, $13 bulk, $15 sacks; shale, $22.50; Grimsby, $7.50; Renton, $5.50; South Prairie, $6.50@7; Cedar River Star, $5.50; Southfield Wellington, $8@8.50; white ash steam, $5.50 from ship; Newport, $5.10 from ship side.

—The Olympian brought freight for: [illegible] Wright, G F Fox, J Sears, P McQuade & Son, Brown & White, A Bullock, M W Waitt & Co, Mrs L J Cross, A Ofner, Neufelder & Ross, Standard Oil Co, J A T Caton, Findlay D & Brodie, A Cowan, J H Todd & Son, Larkin Connolly & Co, W S Jeffrey, Thos Dunn, C Strouse & Co, E B Marvin, H Young & Co, Moore & Co, Arthur Bullock.

—Three old Port Townsend celebrities of early days, says the Argus, who went to Victoria to seek their fortunes, have settled down as follows: Capt. John Cornish, the romancer, has charge of a trading post on the west coast of Vancouver Island for Mr. Charles Spring of Victoria; Capt. Tom Ballast, who had a fruit store on Johnson street, Victoria, has gone to San Francisco for medical advice about his eyes; and Newell Gerrish, the inimitable wag, has a saw filing shop in Oriental alley, Victoria. Their many old friends in Port Townsend will be glad to learn of their whereabouts.

FROM EAGLE PASS.

The Late Accident—An Official Causing Trouble.

A writer from Eagle Pass Landing says that in the late accident, Mr. Wright was badly bruised and cut up, but his wounds were not considered necessarily fatal, although they will not tend to lengthen his days. Mr. Ainsworth was also badly shaken up, but Mrs. Ainsworth and the boys escaped with scarcely a scratch. The accident occurred from the breaking of the neck yoke strap, and the dropping of the pole on the ground, causing the horses to run away.

There is nothing specially new or exciting. The contractors on the line are all crowding men on their works—Chinamen principally. It was reported that Chinamen on Sinclair & Tappan's contract had struck again. The trouble is supposed to have been caused by the Indian agent McKay, who prompted the Indians to make a claim on the Chinamen for cutting wood and occupying the Indian reservation.

The weather of late has been warm, and it was predicted that the snow on the highest ranges in the Big Bend country would soon disappear.

CALEDONIAN GAMES.

Annual Gathering of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Societies To-morrow.

The annual gathering of the above societies will be held in the agricultural show grounds, Beacon Hill, to-morrow. The grounds will be open for admission to the public at eleven o'clock, and the games will begin at two sharp. Competitors will note that fact and be punctual in their attendance, as the programme is a lengthy one and must be gone through with ere darkness sets in. The building has been handsomely decorated with flags, tartans and appropriate Scottish mottoes. In the evening there will be a brilliant display of fireworks. Weather proving favorable the gathering promises to be in every respect a success. The committee of management have left nothing undone to ensure for all who may favor the occasion with their presence a most enjoyable time. It is to be hoped their efforts will be fully rewarded by a large number of visitors.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. G. Oppenheimer and daughters are visiting at Seattle.

Mr. E. D. Sparrow, editor of the Cloverdale (Cal.) Reveille, is in the city.

Warren R. Dodge of Seattle is registered at the Oriental.

Amos Bowman, of the Geological survey, Ottawa; and J. W. Riley and wife, Los Angeles, are at the Driard.

Mr. Charles Mitchell, of Noonan & Mitchell, New York, arrived on Thursday, having left here in 1867.

Mr. and Mrs. William Angus left this morning for Chemainus, where they intend remaining for a month.

M. C. Hutchings, D. S. Stewart, Astoria; S. Monk, A. Selchow, Toronto, and Phil Rerbey, Port Arthur, are at the American.

Passengers by the Olympian were: D Frost, D Phillips, W Murray, C Trodd, W Ball, P Revere, J M Riley and wife, Miss Riley, E W Spring and wife, O H Johnston, P R Jones, J Boyd, Mrs Mitchell, G J Whitman, Thos Miller, T Bolton, J C Clarke, Mrs Kelly, D Monk, J A Abernethy, L Porter, D Miltimer and wife, D Stewart, C Warren, A Bolton, Captain Roberts, H Fife, Dr Davie and wife, Miss Davie, Miss M Davie, Miss K Davie, T Williams, Capt A McCallum and wife, A R C McCallum, G Hanney, M C Hawkins, J Henderson, J Joesher, Lieut Bromley, A Campbell.

The Bank of British Columbia.

The figures of the May bank statement are published. The Bank of British Columbia, having a British origin, government and charter, it had not previously made returns to the government of Canada. Its headquarters and board of directors are in London, and it has maintained a respectable career for many years past—it was established in 1862. It has now however, fallen into line with the rest, and an act is before the present parliament applying the provisions of our Banking Act in great part to it. The bank has a "paid-up capital" of $1,683,000, and a reserve fund of $316,000; its circulation is $743,000; its deposits $1,627,000; and its loans and discounts $2,035,000. It returns no overdue bills. Only $12,000 is held in real estate; its bank premises stand at $35,000. This bank and a branch of the Bank of British North America, divide the whole business of British Columbia between them. The field is no doubt, a profitable and growing one.

Canadian Land Subsidies.

In the Commons on the 26th, on the third reading of the bill granting subsidies of lands for railway purposes in Manitoba and the Northwest, Mr. Blake moved an amendment that all agricultural lands should be open for settlement at a fair maximum price. Sir John Macdonald opposed the amendment. He thought there was no danger of land being held at too high price. The railway companies would see to it that lands were disposed of early, and at reasonable prices to the people of the country which the railway traversed. The amendment was declared lost, and the bill passed.

Hard on the "Skippers."

Sir Alexander Campbell, minister of justice, is said to have approved the new extradition treaty with the U. S. government. An American exchange says it is to be hoped that the instrument will speedily show its naked edge, and break up the contented groups of American criminals who, under the existing feeble specifications of extraditable crimes, are fattening in Canadian atmosphere.

Silver Ore.

Coun. Robertson and Mr. Shields brought with them a gumber of specimens of silver ore, found in a ledge at Cowichan lake. These are believed to contain the precious metal in paying quantities. Mr. Robertson will leave on another prospecting tour next week.

—A large force of carpenters is engaged on the new theatre which is rapidly progressing under the energetic direction of Mr. Apponyi. In addition to the ordinary dress circle, pit, gallery and private boxes there will be eight mezzanine boxes [illegible] Every position in the auditorium will be a desirable one, and every thing that transpires on the stage can be both seen and heard to advantage. The tin roof of the building is now about completed, and by the end of August it is expected the theatre will be ready to be opened to the public.

—"Why are the statutes of 1885 not issued?" is a question that has been propounded to THE TIMES repeatedly of late. Not being in the confidence of the government, this journal is not enlightened on such momentous state secrets; but Dame Rumor, who often lies, says that the ministers cannot agree on who is to do the printing.

—Mr. Roland E. Green is welcomed back by his friends. He states that he committed a serious error in leaving so suddenly, that his reasons for so doing were not as reported, on account of pressure by his creditors, but to look after an affair in which he was interested financially.

Base Ball Match.

A very close and interesting game of base ball was played on Dominion Day at Beacon Hill, between a junior nine of the James Bay club and the Rock Bay club. It was played in the forenoon, when there were not a great many spectators to witness it; but it was one of the best games of the season, as will be seen by the score as follows:

Chinese Witnesses.

In police court to-day Chief Bloomfield requested that a Chinese witness should be put out of court when another Chinaman was giving evidence. A Chinaman was being prosecuted for selling a Klootchman a bottle of gin, and the defence attempted to proof an alibi. The Indian woman identified the culprit in the prisoner, and gave her evidence in a straightforward manner and with childlike simplicity. The first Chinese witness for the defence swore that the prisoner was in his house at the time of the alleged sale of the whiskey. When the second Chinaman was brought into court he would not give evidence, stating that he knew nothing whatever about the case. Had he been allowed to remain in court he might have proved a most ready witness and shown that he was perfectly familiar with the whereabouts of the accused at the time in question. Mr. Johnson wisely gave credence to the Indian woman's story and fined the prisoner $50. The police are doing a good work in discovering and punishing those guilty of selling liquor to the Indians. Within the past few months, a great many convictions have been made, and heavy fines imposed. The effect must be to lessen the evil considerably—it is probably too much to expect that it can be stamped out altogether so long.

Mountain Pink.

The audience last night was composed largely of a "beggarly array of empty benches." This was unfortunate, as the performance merited a most liberal patronage. Crowded houses have in Victoria applauded to the echo many inferior plays by inferior companies. The numerous entertainments of late have, to a certain extent, saliated the public appetite, and the reaction of Dominion Day excursion parties was still having its effect on our theater goers. Laura E. Dainty as "Sincerity Weeks" scored a complete success in a difficult role. "Harold Wilmot," a New Yorker, in search of adventure among the moonshiners of the south, was faithfully portrayed by Mr. C. Hyneon. "Nondas" exhibited a talent that is susceptible of improvement, while "Seip," an old negro, was an excellent and life-like carjcature. Several of the parts were sustained in a most creditable manner.

The Wedding Party.

Port Townsend harbor was enlivened on Tuesday morning by the arrival of the Alexander, gaily decorated with flags, having on board Mr. and Mrs. Croft and party. Capt. James McIntyre, of the ship Richard III., a friend of Mr. Dunsmuir, had his ship gaily decorated with flags in honor of the bridal party. As the steamer left, she saluted the ship with shrill whistles, which were promptly responded to by the dipping of colors on board the Richard III.

The Middle Section.

T. J. Peal, contractor, left for Cowichan on the Rithet this morning. He took with him about three hundred men, a large number of horses and a general outfit for the construction of the middle section of the Island railway. Mr. Peal was for a number of years Superintendent of construction on the Lake Superior branch of the C. P. R. and is a thoroughly capable man for the work he has in hand.

Another Flouring Mill for Cariboo District.

The machinery of the flouring mill in this city has been purchased by Mr. William Pinchbeck of William Lake, Cariboo district, and will be moved up at once and put in operation, so that it can be utilized in manufacturing his large crop of wheat. Next year Mr. Pinchbeck will have over 400 acres in crop.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

(While the columns of THE TIMES are open for the discussion of questions of public interest, to correspondents, it must be understood that it does not necessarily endorse, nor coincide with, the sentiments expressed by writers in this column.)

The Editor of the Colonist and Chinese Labor.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I am sorry to trouble you again, but the explanation given and the apology offered by Mr. Chas. McCorlich, in this morning's Colonist, on behalf of Mr. Higgins, are very well in their way. They do not tally, however, with the subsequent statement evidently made by Mr. Higgins himself as editor. Mr McCorlich testifies that Mr. Higgins instructed him not to employ Chinamen in clearing a site for his house in Regent Park, which he says was carried out to the letter. So far so good. The question naturally asked by working men in the face of this statement is why did not Mr. Higgins impose the same restrictions when giving a contract for the building of his house. He cannot for a moment advance the assertions that the conditions were not in his own hands before letting the contract. Therefore in the minds of all reasonable men Mr. Higgins is the party who is responsible for the employment of Chinamen on the work. Why the editor should mention the number of white hands he has employed at the Colonist office your correspondent is at a loss to know, or what connection the employment of labor in that establishment has to do with the giving of work to the Chinamen in question, is a problem which a stranger, like myself, cannot be expected to solve. An advocate, is Mr. Higgins is of the local government giving contracts only to persons who will bind themselves not to employ Chinese labor, and this action in connection with his private affairs, is, to say the least of it, most inconsistant, and proves that Mr. Higgins' precept and his practice have no relationship in fact.

The License Question at Farwell.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—In looking over THE TIMES of June 19th, my eyes rested on a communication written by a "Guest," from Farwell, and after perusing the correspondence carefully, I think that he might much more appropriately have signed his name "Guess." The facts of the case are as follows: Mr. Sproat, S. M., issued some twenty-five or thirty licenses for one month to different hotels and saloon keepers for a small nominal sum, leading the parties to believe that this amount would shield them from all fines; that is from the penalties imposed by the Provincial and Public Works Act. Mr. Johnston, who was appointed commissioner of police by the Dominion government, for the sole purpose of carrying out, so far as possible, the laws of said act, hearing that Mr. Sproat, S. M., had taken the liberty of infringing on his authority, and had issued the said license within the railway belt, and by so doing had lead the public to believe that he, Mr. Johnston, was nearly a cipher, concluded the best way of testing the matter was by putting the law in force. This he did in a few instances, and among the saloons searched was one kept by Mr. Rodd, a gentleman who I have no hesitation in saying, is quite capable of carrying on the business without the aid of friends. Mr. Johnston had been doing business in Farwell for some time previous to his appointment as Commissioner of Police, and knowing his full time would be occupied in attending to his duties in connection with his office, he at once sold his interest in Farwell to Mr. Rodd, who from that time has been sole proprietor, instead of paid agent of Mr. Johnson, whose reputation is too well known to require further comment. And I have no hesitation in saying that no officer in the district tries to mete out the law more leniently. The same can not be said of all, as there are those who would be willing to serve both God and Mammon could they find a partner trustworthy. People who live in glass houses should be the last to throw stones.

Yours,

JUSTICE.

Farwell, June 26, 1885.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

(Before Judge Public Opinion.)

The judge on the bench, the dignified clerk immediately in front of him, and the counsellors learned in the law, who are buzzing around like wasps, have been summoned to the bar of public opinion. The action is brought to compel defendants to speak more distinctly and conduct themselves more decorously and noiselessly during their deliberations, so that business may not be unnecessarily retarded and those present may hear an occasional word of what is said. The evidence is conclusive that the lawyers are continuously talking to each other, walking across the floor or banging chairs about when a witness is speaking or the court is elucidating some knotty point. They are, by far, the most culpable of the defendants. Their mission in life is one of discord, and in their behavior in court they are not untrue to it. The judge is guilty of acts of omission only. It was his duty to have seen that the floor of the court room was covered with a soft matting that would completely deaden the sound of the lawyers brogans. The good-looking clerk has only one fault. As a reader he is not a success. He has retained the dolorous singsong voice in which in infancy and a village school he was taught to repeat the inspiring lines of "Mary had a Little Lamb." It may be intelligible to himself but it is as meaningless as a dead language to the ordinary juryman. The verdict of the jury is that the defendants are guilty and while all unite in a recommendation to mercy, it is on the understanding that the offences be not again committed and that some consideration be shown for the public, who, in this as in every other walk of life, pays the piper to see the puppets dance. "Order in Court." FOREMAN.

Abusing Mr. Chamberlain.

A London special to the New York Post says: Irishmen view Mr. Chamberlain's expression of an intention to go to Ireland and investigate, with much annoyance, because they foresee that their grievances may possibly be aggravated [illegible] Parnell's paper, says:

This gentleman, who has been a party to every act of despotism perpetrated by Forster, Trevelyan and Spencer for the past five years, no sooner gets his heels clear of Downing street than he has the effrontry to pose as the champion vindicator of Irish freedom.

The animus of these opinions is well understood here. They will not hurt but rather strengthen Mr. Chamberlain.

Smuggling Opium.

On the arrival of the Olympian at Tacoma on Tuesday a Chinaman named Sam was arrested, along with $90 worth of opium which he had procured at Victoria and secreted about his clothes.
